ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for an image forming system enabling an intelligent repeat image feature is disclosed. The intelligent repeat image feature enables a user to submit an image, scanned or otherwise, and manipulate that image to result in an output image containing repeated enlarged/reduced copies of the original image on a single printing medium.